Tech, the school on the go;
The school in the know.
It is always moving,
Never losing.
But stop,
Listen.
What really makes Tech tick?

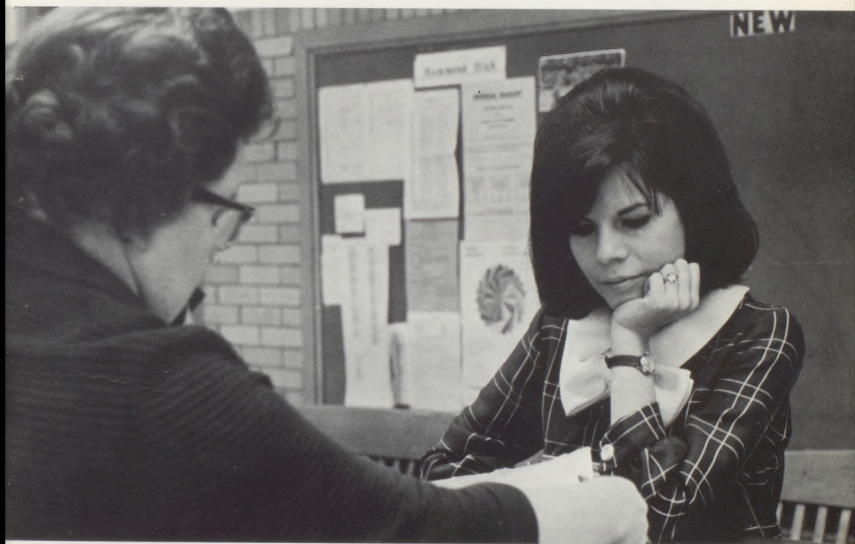

Mr. Parson, man on the go.

Homecoming is part of Tech, and with it come bonfires and balloons.

What Makes Tech Tick.....

Students Preparing

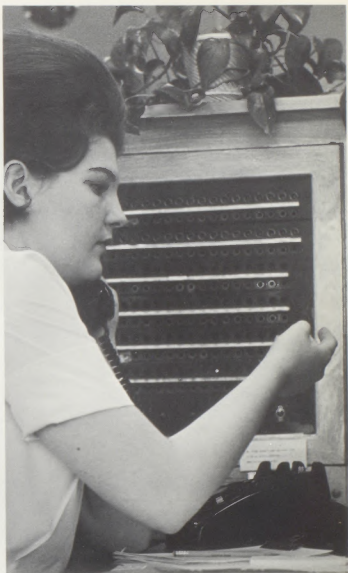

John Weems is gaining experience for a future trade in welding shop.

for the Future

Tech's purpose is to prepare the students for the world of business and industry. Shops and practical service classes, as well as courses in public speaking provide the students with essential skills. These opportunities are available to no other students in this region. Time passes quickly for Tech students, and as graduation approaches, they are fully prepared to meet life, because along with their education, they have a skill. Their work and efforts are truly part of "Making Tech Tick."

Bill Zacker is being trained in public speaking.

Office practice classes have helped Lynn Flickinger and many other girls to learn office procedures.

Tom Branson is shown testing an engine; a skill that can be used in many ways.

Eight Hours of Classes

The Tigers take time out during the tense moments of a game to listen to Coach George Bereolos.

Martha Hernandez is busily studying in Miss Peehl's government class.

Tech ticks all day, from Government classes to the basketball court. Time, time, time. It is very important for Tech's livelihood.

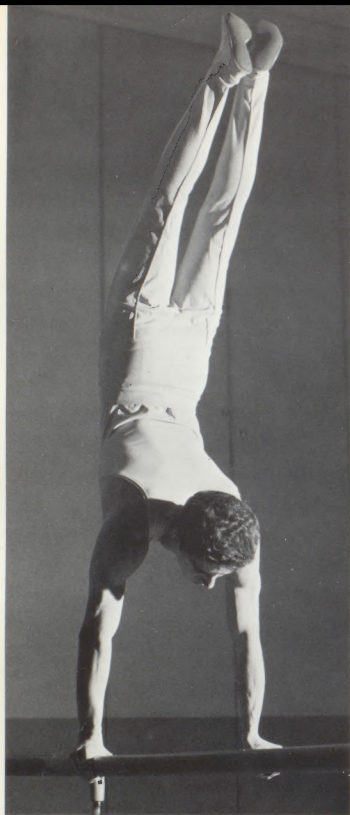

During 4th. and 5th. hours, the Tigers take a break for lunch. For shop credits, some of them can work in the cafeteria and learn all of the concepts about quantity cooking. They prepare many of the foods that are served.

There is always time for athletic events. Tech could not be successful without strong, healthy students.

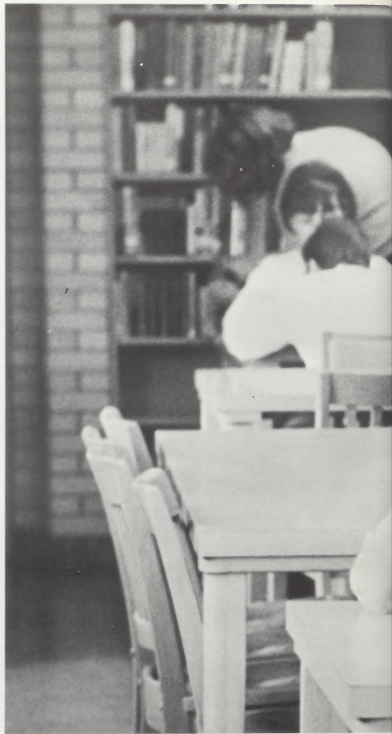

and Work

Tech's lunches are prepared by Quantity Foods students, like Greg Graves.

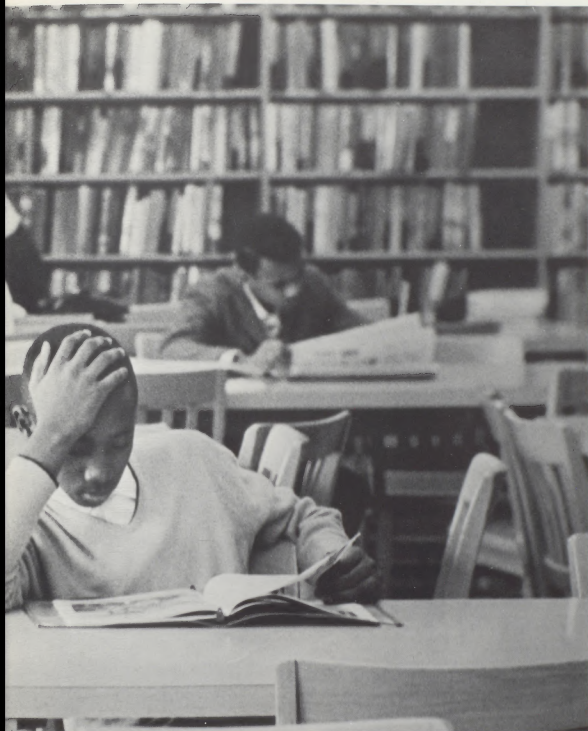

Rick Chandler displays his ability on the parallel bars.

Music makes the tempo at Tech.

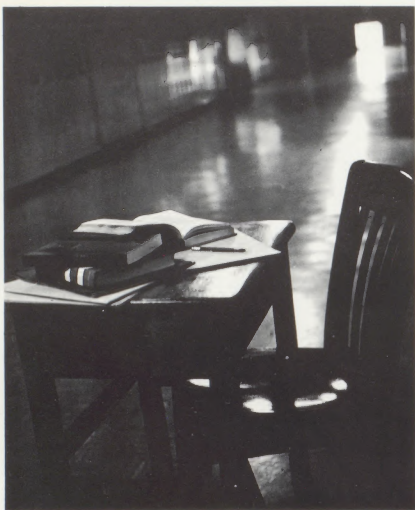

The library, though set aside for study, can be used just for enjoyment, too.

Everybody has an extra hour sometime in his career at Tech. These hours can be used up in as many ways as there are hours in a day. If you have a special interest, you can join the rest of the go group and become part of the extra curricular activities, or you can just relax for a while and read your favorite magazine. Either way, you are part of Tech.

Students with Special Interests

ACTIVITIES

Cheryl Huff is crowned Homecoming Queen by Candy Langer as JoAnn Tsonchilos watches.

Blain Fentress and Jerry Bernel ride on VICA Club float.

Homecoming dance is enjoyed by everyone.

Activities Enjoyed by All

The main activity enjoyed this year was Homecoming. After the homecoming game was a dance. Other activities included the Hammond Christmas Parade, football games, basketball games, wrestling, Tech's first swimming team and school assemblies.

Mike Street is tackled while carrying the ball for Tech.

Fun Days Phase of Life at Tech

Mr. Welty Day is being revived by Jeff Behling, Paul Carlson, Jim Colias, Bob Bognary and Mike Whitaker.

Mrs. Beverly Kramer looks on as drama students prepare the scenery for the Christmas program.

Paul Carlson and Janet Dibblee receive their Mirror Award as the other seniors look on.

Pat Jeffries and John Villarruel are taking part in the senior activities.

Seniors Received Their Mirror Awards

Lloyd Tolly, Mike Cockron, Tom Branson, and Jim Green are discussing the rainy weather on Sr. Sweatshirt Day.

The seniors are being bid farewell at the 1968 class party.

Seniors and Juniors Lead the School.

Seniors, Janet Dibblee, Martha Hernandez and Cheryl Fultman, show off their legs on Sr. Bermuda Day.

The weather is terrible, but Maria Sarivalos, Sharon Grace and Penny Goodpaster are still enjoying Sweatshirt Day.

Tech's proud Band performs at the annual Winter Concert under the direction of Mr. Zaley.

Seniors Tour Washington and New York

All the tourists viewed the Lincoln Memorial

Another interesting sight to see was the Iwo Jima Marine Memorial.

Several Tech Seniors and Juniors were among those who toured Washington and New York during October. Accompanied by Miss Ritter, these students journeyed by train visiting Washington for two days, and spending two days in New York. Students were able to visit such places of interest as Mount Vernon, Capital Building, Radio City Music Hall, U.N. Building, Statue of Liberty, and Thomas Jefferson Memorial. It was a wonderful opportunity for our students to view some of the historical spots in our country.

A sky line view of New York is shown, which was taken from the observation tower of the Empire State Building.

The exhausted faces of students show the experience of the long and tedious trip to Washington.

Right; The Statue of Liberty as viewed from the ferry boat.

Miss Ritter catches forty winks.

Seniors Produce "All My Darlings"

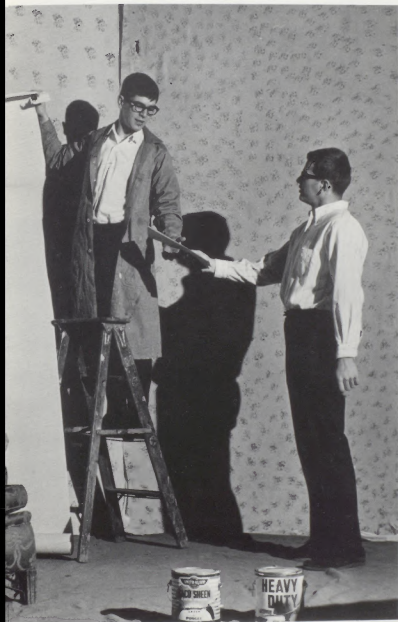

Ed Szewecul, Father, enjoys the antics of his two daughters, Pat Jefferies and Sharon Grace.

Wes Norton as Mr. Tortoni, the spray man, is removing the bees from the Byrnes' home.

While Sharon Grace (Nina), and Ed Szewecul (Father), hang the wallpaper, Bob Bognar (Mr. Van Ettig, the real estate man), shows the agreement to sell. Maria Sarivalas (Daniele) reads about the bees.

Sharon Grace, as Nina, listens to the long-winded conversation of a neighbor.

Bob Bogner is being fitted for a tuxedo.

Seniors Prepare for Final Prom

Tech Upper-classmen participated in the annual Prom. The 1968 Prom, on May 24, was a tremendous success. To go to the Prom, however, each person had to prepare. Hours of primping were required for the girls, and fittings and flowers had to be taken care of by each escort.

For the Juniors, the Prom was a new experience.

The Post-Prom party, planned by the PTA, provided extra hours of fun. It lasted far into the night. Dawn brought about the end of an exciting day.

Wes Norton orders flowers for the Prom.

Sharon Grace and María Sarivalos are trying on dresses in Rosalee's.

Solo contest winners: l-r: E. Ullstan, S. Shook; J. O'Neal, N. Reed, B. Nisevich, M. Lee; V. Dukes, J. South; P. Donelson, J. O'Neal.

Speech and Song

Last year the Speech Team won their first team trophy and many first place medals were won last year at various contests. Outstanding members of the team are Gaye Watwood, Mark Lee, and Judy Reel. Last year our music department participated in a music contest, which was held at Lew Wallace School in Gary, Indiana. At the contest in Gary there were 5,000 students participating for medals and school honors.

Seated: J. Reel, M. Manzo, M. Lee. Standing: B. Carney, M. Honea,

Debbie Lindsey, Typist and Reporter

Current news was always being made at Tech. The Tech Times presented that news to the students and faculty. All news, no matter how important, was placed in the newspaper. The Times was put out, even when school was in session from 7:00 to 12:00. Hours of work went into each edition. The skilled staff put in many hours of their time by the end of the year.

Staffs Combine for Successful Publications

Melody Markanich—Shops Editor

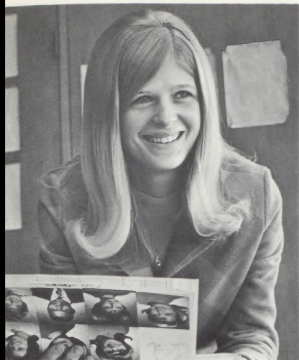

Penny Goodpaster—First Semester Business Manager

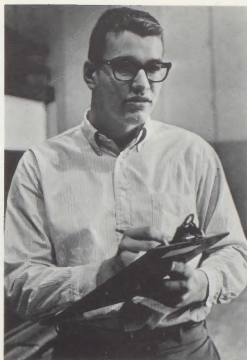

1968 was presented to Tech by the students of these pages. Their untiring work and inexhaustible ideas created this year's book. The Chart, though the same size, through their work, became a superior book. The editors who were more experienced laid out the major portion of the book. The students in the group pictures are the future Editors of the Chart. Their major job this year was to find out what made a good yearbook. The staff showed Tech in action; They showed what makes "Tech Tick."

ACADEMICS

Bill Zacher shows speaking talents in English class.

English 4 students are studying Silas Marner.

English

Tech students are required to take 8 semesters of English. Each semester covers a different phase of Language Arts: American Literature to Shakespeare's Macbeth and from grammar to creative writing.

Included in the language arts classes offered at Tech were composition, journalism, speech, literature, and drama.

The basics taught in these classes are very helpful in our every day life, not only in school, but also on the job. Each English class is another step toward broadening our understanding of languages and culture of today.

Maria Sarivalas is engrossed in a discussion about Macbeth.

Students in Mrs. Kackley's English 7 class are taking a test.

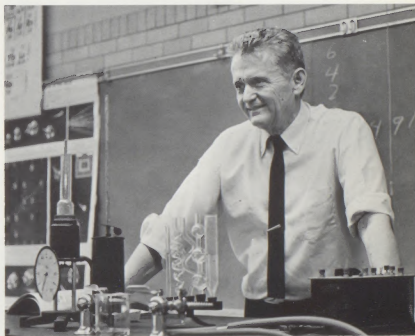

Science

Jerry Collingwood and Benny Joines examine a telescope.

Ruben Oretagon and Janise Hagen work with chemicals in Chemistry Lab.

Mr. Welty, during one of his many discussions in Physics class.

Skilled hands are a necessity in getting good results in Chemistry.

Mathematics

Mathematics have always been an essential part of Tech. Shops and Math go hand in hand to prepare the students for the future. Algebra, Geometry, and Math are all a part of Tech's program. Practical Math can be applied to the lives of each Tiger today and for the rest of his life. The world is changing from manpower to machinery, and with machinery comes Math. Tech students will be prepared to meet this challenge.

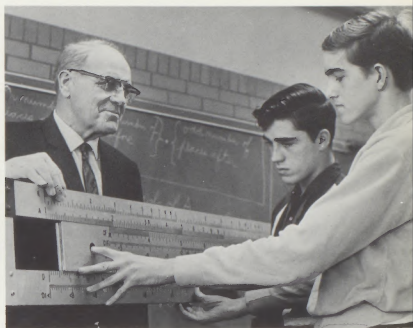

Lockie Cole is working to get her problem correctly written.

Tom Yocum and Charles Navaro, are working at the board in one of Mrs. Jones' math classes.

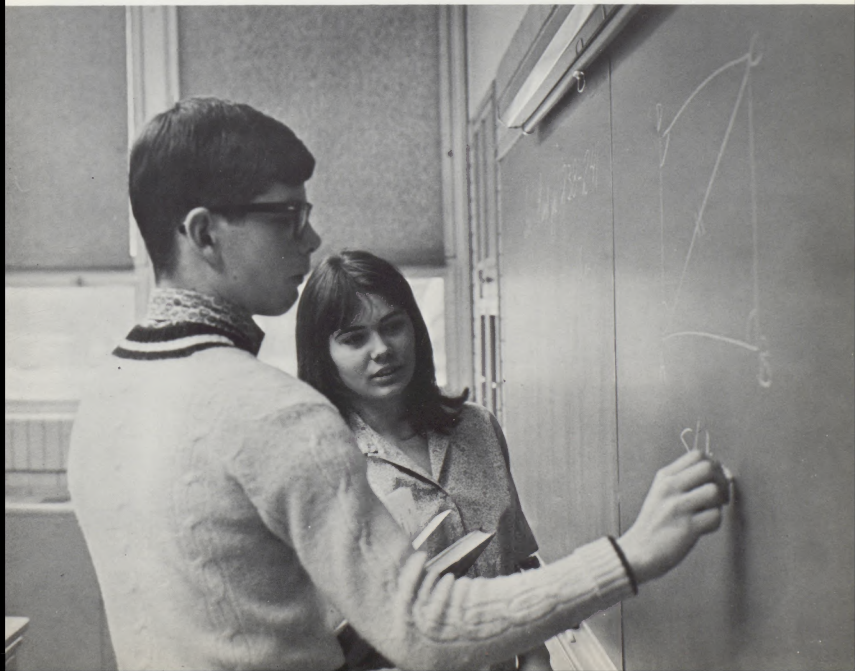

Mrs. Jones aids Liz Santa in Math I.

Norbert Knight demonstrates on the slide rule.

Steve Ludwig and Pam Miles work a geometrical problem.

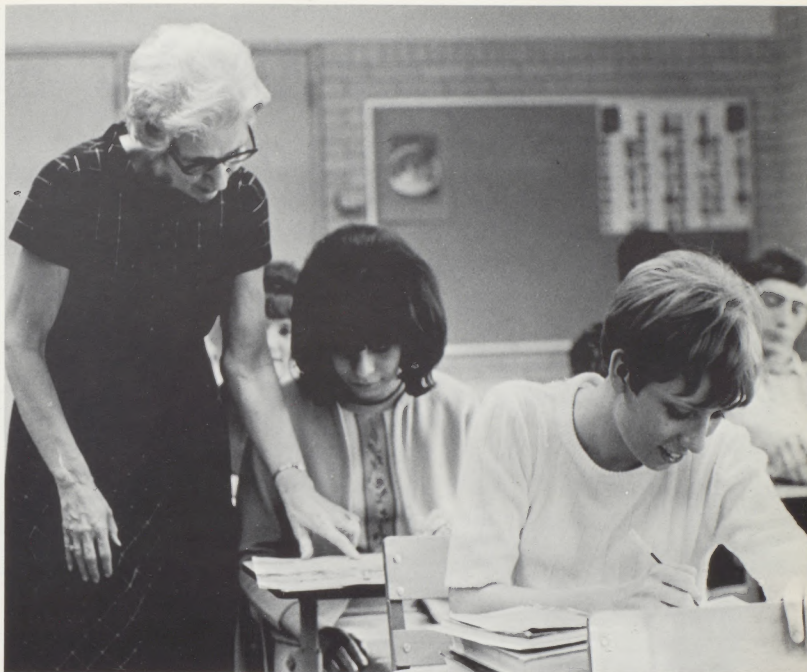

Mr. Carlson assists a student in U.S. History.

Mrs. Byrne gives individual aid in History.

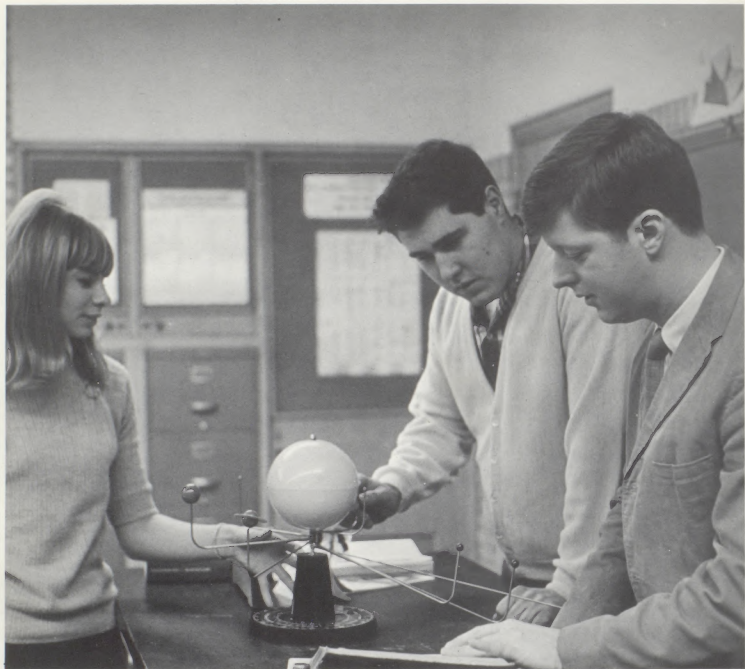

Roberta Emerson speaks in Government Class.

Mrs. Peehl checks homework in Government Class.

Social Studies

Mr. Bain listens to a scientific explanation given by Diane Wanio and Roger O'Rourke.

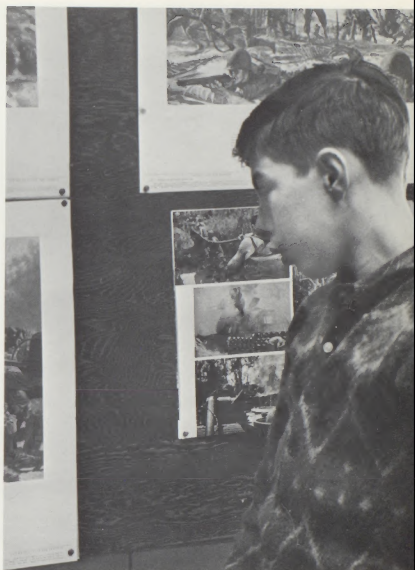

Developmental

Provided for special students at Tech are developmental classes which aid each student in making the most of his abilities.

These classes are especially designed for students that are deficient in English, mathematics, or social studies. In these classes the students work at their own levels and speeds.

Andy Leus and Kathy Jones locate countries on the globe in Mrs. Lewis' world history class.

Tom Leict gives class discussion on social studies.

Later, Zeke Wren and Donna Gerrion aid in discussion with Mr. Hafner's help.

Fine Arts

There is a time for work, and a time for enjoyment. The Fine Arts Classes reflected the many different phases of enjoyment at Tech. Art, Drama, Music, and Spanish gave the students a chance to learn while they created. Many of the projects were done for the benefit of Tech, but some had the sole purpose of giving satisfaction to the students. These students gave Tech a reason to tick in the year 1967-8.

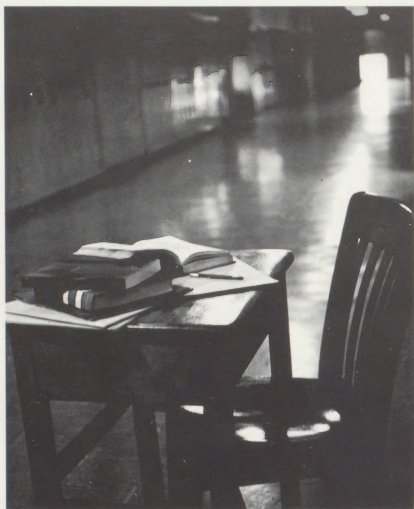

The library, though not a Fine Arts Class, is used by Rodney Bagwell and many others to explore and broaden their minds.

The Concert Choir adds to Tech's spirit by putting on numerous programs for the student body.

Robert Jones and Kevin Hayes devote their time one hour each day to learn Spanish in preparation for the future.

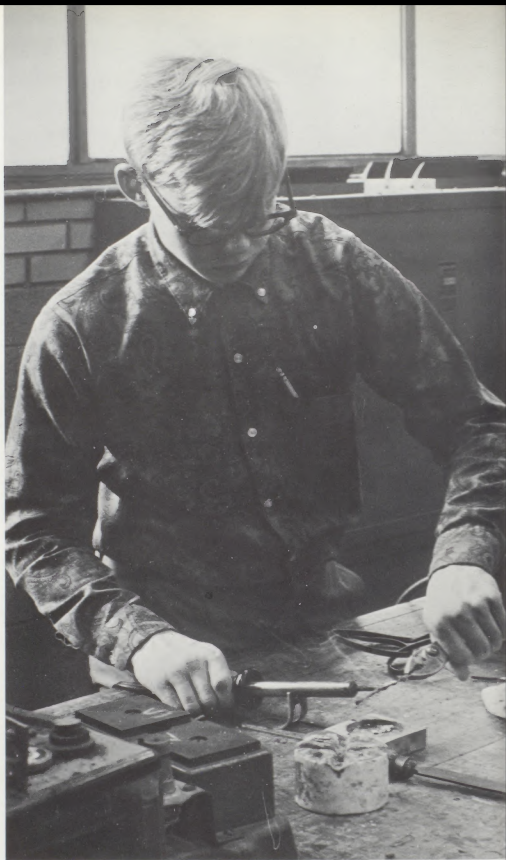

SHOPS

Tom Mead and Rich Hoholek are working on a bender.

Jim Peich is soldering a splice in Exploratory Electric.

Freshman boys are required to take four nine-week courses for preparation to shop. These include; Exploratory Electric where they learn the basics of electricity.

Exploratory Wood teaches the basic of wood and wood tools. In Exploratory Drafting, they get a basic introduction to drafting and in Exploratory Metals they are introduced to tools, machines, and operations. This also aids them in an area of work to suit them.

Don Kaleta is using a triangle to draw in Exploratory Drafting.

Four Exploratory Shops Offered to Freshmen

Lee Lozano selects type.

Setting form are Bob Panion and Lee Lozano.

In the print shop, supervised by Mr. Delaney, manual typesetting and printing with an offset press and platen press was mastered by beginning students. In advanced shop, students used vertical presses and Linotype machines.

The print shop printed many things for the school such as posters, the Tech Times, pamphlets, as well as doing much work for other schools.

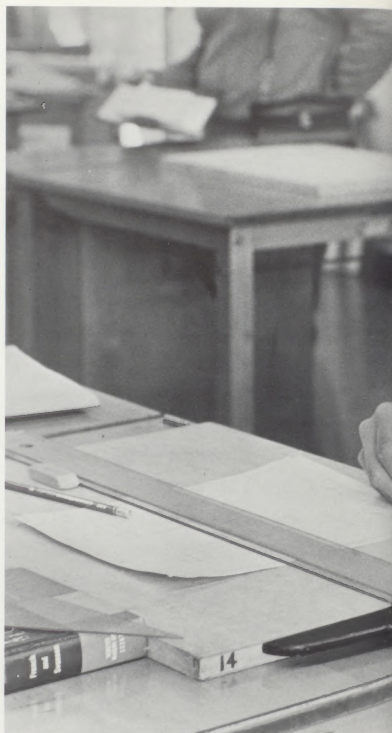

Ron Love and Larry Gilbert are shown printing football schedules.

Printshop Serves the School

A Tool and Die-Blueprint is being worked by George Klaubo and Ed Szewczuk.

John Webb is using a T-square in Mechanical Drawing 2

Boys Learn Essentials of Drawing

Mark Bass is working on a problem in Mr. Casperson's Mechanical Drawing class.

Blueprinting, Drafting, and Free Hand Sketching are offered at Tech.

Mechanical Drawing teaches the boys how to use sketches they made on the job in construction.

Drafting gives a good knowledge of blueprint reading and reproduction and the drafting essentials needed to become a professional draftsmen.

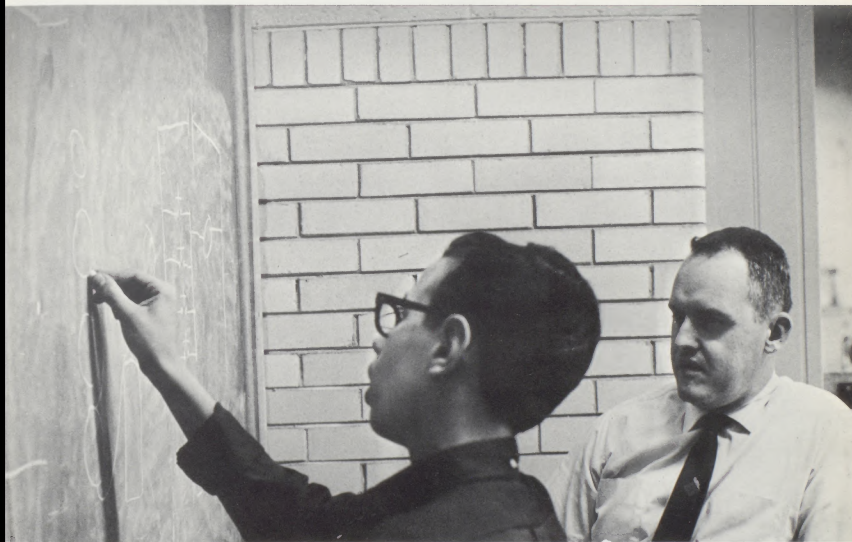

Dan Gerhardt is reading tables in Electronics.

Mr. Kompier is aiding Dennis Branson fix a toaster.

Students Work in 3 Phases of Electricity

Don Jackson explains a diagram on the board to Mr. Krull.

The boys in Electronics learn to repair televisions and radios under the instruction of Mr. Buehle. Parents and faculty can bring in small home appliances for students to fix.

Industrial Electric deals with all phases of electrical work including wiring a house.

Bruce Frostich is fabricating tote trays.

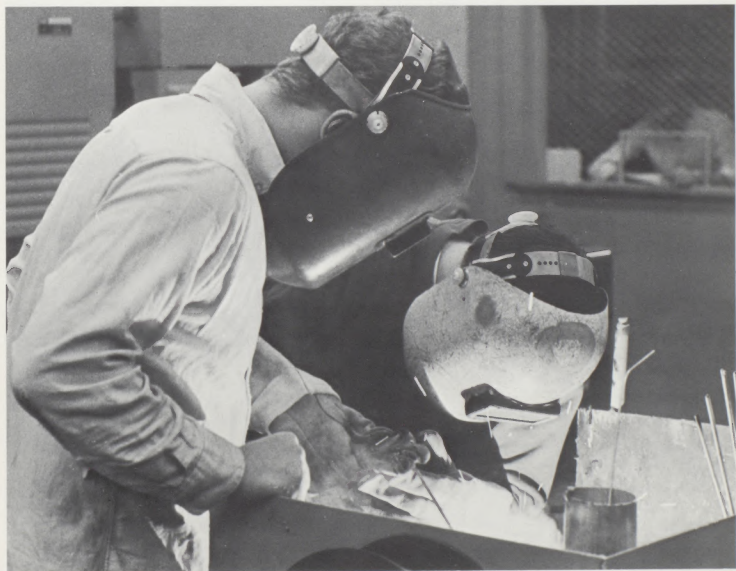

Nick Mosca in Machine Shop.

Sheet Metal teaches boys to make such things as tote trays for Auto shop.

Machine shop teaches students the operation and maintenance of various machines.

Boys in welding shop learned oxyacetylene and electric-arc welding. They also learned to repair their tools.

Todd Ault works in Welding Shop.

Students Work with Metals in 3 Shops.

Boys in Auto Shop 1 work on two cycle engines and simple car repair instruction. Auto 2 students study maintenance and repair of cars. Outside persons are also allowed to bring in their car for repairs.

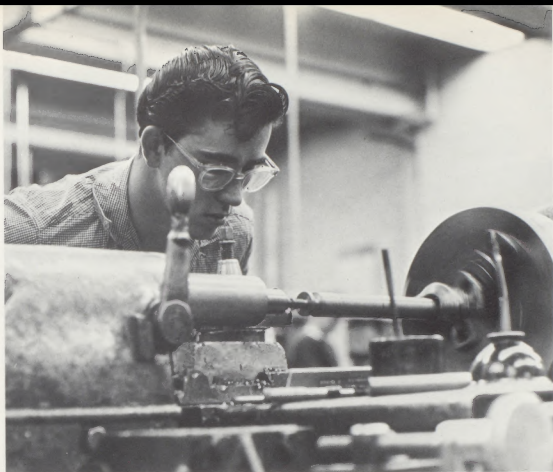

In Carpentry shop the boys learn wood layouts and work on such projects as making model houses.

Mr. Turner teaches his Machine shop students machine operations and maintenance of machines they use in industrial jobs.

Mike Mish is measuring frame of model house in Carpentry Shop.

Boys Learn Industrial Jobs and Their Work

Kenny Vernon works on a lathe in Machine shop.

Larry Steele and Bill Johnson are clearing ream grooves in Auto shop.

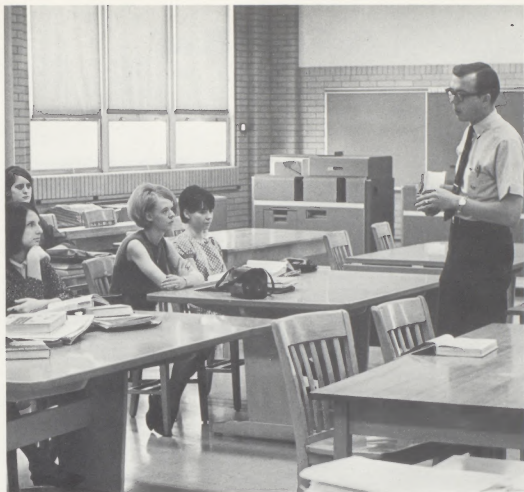

Mr. Moy is answering a question for Barb Reese in D.E.

Three job-opportunity classes are offered at Tech this year. D.E.-Related class, under Mr. Moy, offers the functions of marketing, merchandising, management.

Retailing aids students in their jobs by allowing them to discuss problems and ask questions.

In Mr. Flack's DCE class the boys are given a job, usually in industry and in class they discuss their job and the work.

Related Classes Aid Students in Their Jobs

Mr. Moy is having a question-answer period with his Retailing class.

Mr. Flack discusses the DCE program and its origin with his class.

Students Participate in Cafeteria Food

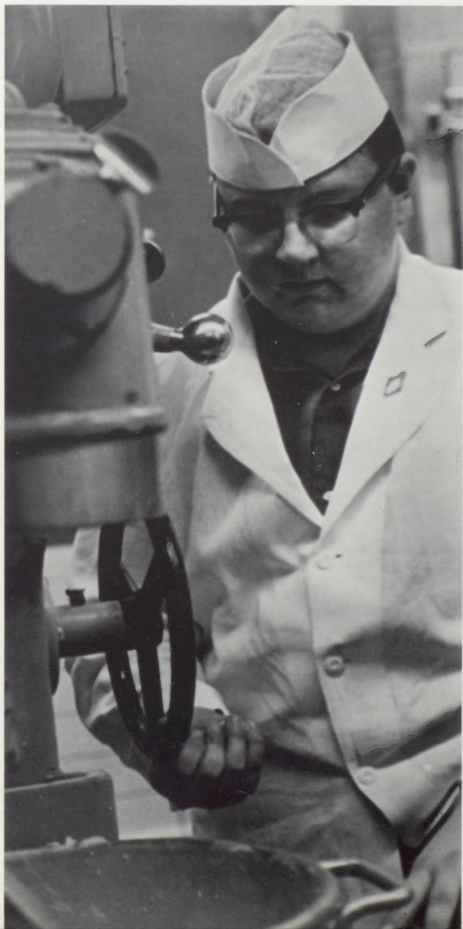

Russ Alleto prepares dinners in the cafeteria.

In Fundamental Foods class, the students learn the basics of cooking and make such things as cake, pies, and rolls.

In Mr. Ford's Quantity Cooking class, the students are usually in there for three hours and they help prepare food served in the cafeteria. They do such jobs as making meat and potatoes, prepare salads and fruits, make soups, and bake cookies and cakes.

Mark McCoy is mixing potatoes in Quantity Foods.

Keith Williams and Larry Kelley are making a cake in Fundamental Foods.

Becky Gootee, and Michelle Pukac examine rug samples in Home Management.

Rhea Bereolos, Barb Reese, and Connie Brakley make a hospital bed in Home Nursing.

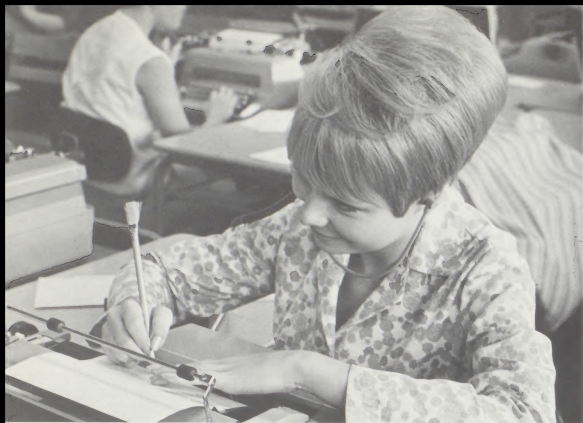

Peggy Clark is studying room arrangement.

Home Life and Care Taught

In these classes, girls are taught home and life care. Homemaking teaches room decorating, proper dress, and color schemes.

Home nursing teaches fundamentals of nursing like pulse and temperature reading. They are also instructed in how to make up a hospital bed.

Home management teaches the best way to make big purchases for the home and such needed fundamentals as changing fuses.

Janet Dibblee is using the Dictaphone in Steno Lab.

Three New Business Classes Offered

Pam Shook is working in Tab Lab, another of Tech's new classes.

JoAnn Tsouchlos is typing IBM cards in Key Punch-Tab Lab, on a key-punch machine.

Steno Lab is one of the three new business courses offered at Tech this semester. This is taken by past shorthand students and consists of typing, shorthand, transcription, and dictaphone work.

In Key Punch the students learn how to be key punch operators and the fundamentals of Tab Lab and IBM work.

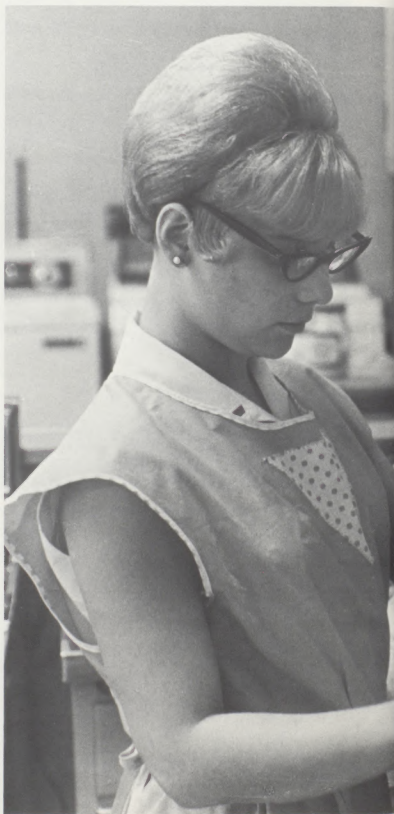

Tab Lab is a deeper more complicated study of key-punch and IBM, and is taught by Mrs. Detwiler, as is Key-Punch.

Home Economics Department Trains Tech Students

Laurie Sanders helps Carol Planer hem a project in Clothing 2.

Sharon Steffan, a lab aide for Mrs. Williams, is preparing ingredients for the foods classes.

One of the first courses instituted in Tech for girls, was the Home Economics Department. It has expanded to a course for boys and girls alike. Practical training is taught to the girls for their future roles as homemakers. The Food Service classes teach all the participating Tigers the secrets and purposes of quantity cooking and business management. Home Economics, one of Tech's major courses helps make Tech tick.

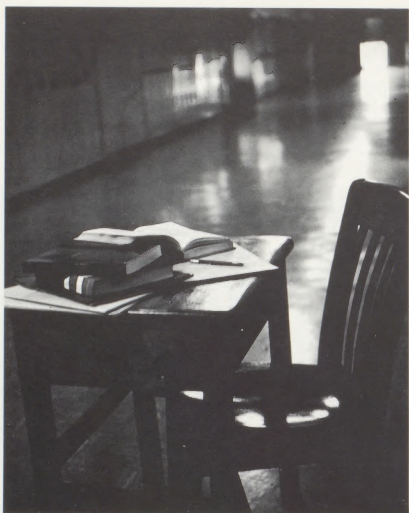

Barb Reese and Connie Brakley are demonstrating the proper way to fix a bed.

Sharon Stone is working diligently on her project for advanced clothing.

SPORTS

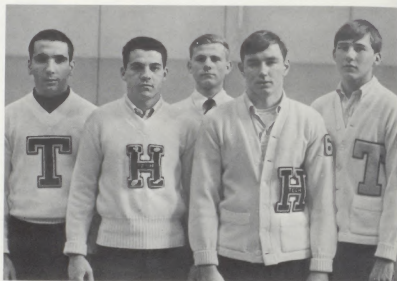

Players, Coaches, and Spectators

Spectators, Coaches, Players, and Spirit. No matter what the sport or what the season, they make up this vital part of Tech. The 1968 year of Tiger sports made records, that topped previous ones, and, of course, there were some that could be improved. Tech's coaches, as always, put out 100% for their teams.

Willie Taylor carries for sizeable gain against Clark's Pioneers.

The Junior Class took all honors among class floats.

"Happiness Is" was the theme at this year's Homecoming. Yellow balloons brought it out.

Homecoming and the Tigers

Tech's Homecoming queen and her court.

Time ticked on for the Tigers at the 1967 Homecoming. The Tigers were unsuccessful in their efforts to beat the Clark Pioneers, but they were backed with true Tiger Spirit. Tech's magnificent parade was titled, "Happiness Is." "Happiness" was Cheryl Huff and Wes Norton crowned Queen and King of the Mighty Tigers.

Balloons helped the chilly crowd cheer. When the queen was crowned, the sky shown with a maze of yellow, helium filled balloons. The other candidates were Lenora White, escorted by Ken Anderson; Penny Goodpaster, escorted by Mike Street; Janet Dibblee, escorted by John Villarruel; and Pat Jeffries, escorted by Paul Carlson. The ceremonies were completed by "The Miss America Theme Song."

Rick Mis is pulled down by two of Clark's defenders.

Swimming Is Added to Sports

Winning records are not made during a 7-inning baseball game or in the few seconds it takes a swimmer to pull the length of the pool. A champion emerges only after hours of practice and dedication. Tech was successful because many groups of athletes were willing to make sacrifices daily on the dusty practice fields or nearly empty arenas.

For the first time Tech fielded a swimming team made up of mainly underclassmen who had never participated in varsity competition. Other sports teams—baseball, track, golf—were able to call upon years of Tech tradition to help in tough going.

A sports season starts weeks ahead of the opening game, and is classed a success if the team improves, unites, and reaches a peak at the end of the long season.

To be a Tech athlete takes not only physical ability, but a great amount of dedication and practice after school and on Saturdays, many times in adverse weather conditions. The golfers and baseball players must wait for the snow to melt and the ground to dry. The track team, however, has many indoor meets. The gym serves as a practice area for the baseball players during the wet weather while the golfers practice their swings in the squad room. The swimmers are not hampered by bad weather. In their first year as a team sport at Tech, they did their practicing at the Civic Center.

We're going to be different,
We're going to be great,
We're going to be remembered,
As the class of '68!

The reign of the 1968 Seniors has drawn to a close. The final grades have been issued and diplomas received. Tech's newest alumni now face their futures. With mixed emotions, they have bid adieu to their 4 year home. Commencement on June 5, officially ended their stand as Mighty Seniors of Tech. That day in June represented many hours of study and fun, hours that are vital to life at Tech. As they look back on their high school years, some of the fondest memories will be of friends. "Senior Days" were happy days. Everyone tried to outdo everyone else in their costumes for Sweatshirt Day, Bermuda Day, Dress Up Day, and Mr. Welty Day. The Senior Play on March 22, the Senior Dinner on May 29, and the Prom on May 24 following in the tradition of 48 previous Senior classes.

But, these are all memories now, and the Seniors have to look to tomorrow no matter what vocation they choose. They, as all other Seniors, played a strong role in making Tech tick.

CLASS HISTORY

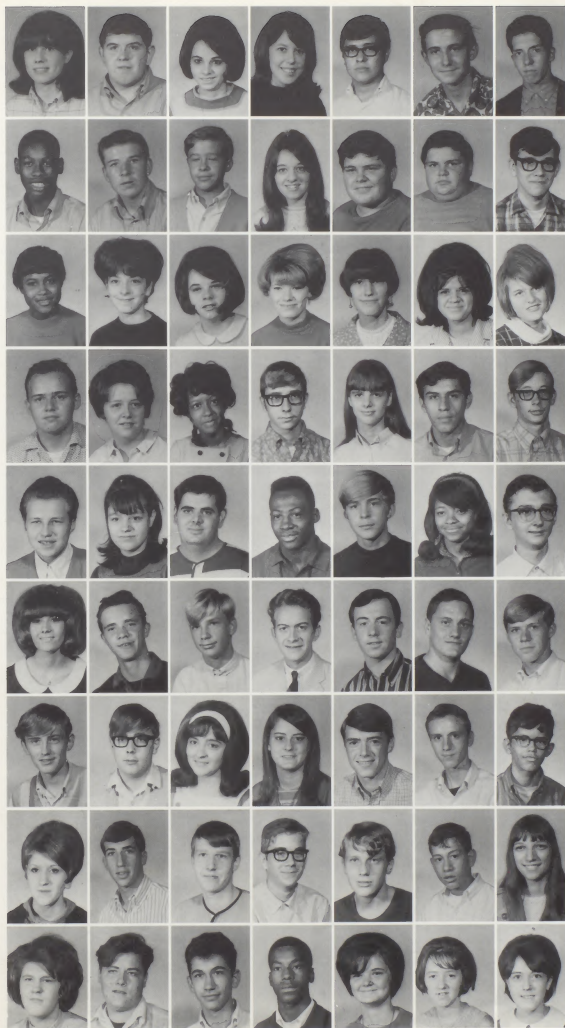

As the Class of 1969 came closer to their Senior year, they had numerous activities. Their part in Tech's history will never be forgotten. Among their activities were elections, the Junior-Senior Party, given in honor of the graduates, and the Prom was held in May. These were all memorable dates for everyone, especially the Seniors. The Juniors, like all of the other students helped to make "Tech Tick."

Acknowledgement

The completion of the CHART is approached with a sense of relief; but when it is completed, I will miss it. Most of all, I will miss the challenge of organizing and compiling a book showing Tech in its truly wonderful light. The book was put together by the long hours and hard work of many people. The seven editors of the book were the ones most responsible for the design and layout of the CHART. Mrs. Meyers, our untiring sponsor, helped us with the many many problems that a yearbook staff faces. The beautiful photography throughout the book was produced by Bodie Studio, and our many thanks for cooperation go out to Harry and Mac. The CHART could not have approached its beauty without their devoted efforts. Mr. Frank Woschitz of Paragon Printers gave invaluable assistance in laying out the book and being ready to help whenever we sounded a distress signal.

For her work on the Senior section, and her help in every other part of the book, I must give my special thanks to Sharon Grace. All of our underclass editorial assistants did a wonderful job. One of these capable people was Sharon Scott, who, even though inexperienced, was a major contributor to the publication of the CHART.

Most of all, I am indebted to the faculty for their cooperation and help when it was needed most. I would like to thank each of you for your assistance, even though it often caused inconveniences.
